Ogilvie Addresses Group At Frankfort

In a recent appearance at Frankfort, Richard Ogilvie, a gubernatorial candidate in the coming Republican primary, lashed out at what he described as the one-man rule in Cook County extending out into the state.

Downstate highways are going to pot, he charged, because Mayor Daley siphons off the bulk of money allotted for highway purposes for the building and maintenance of expressways in Chicago and Cook County.

Ogilvie also charged the present administration has been too permissive in condoning lawlessness and as a result of this, there has been a breakdown of law and order in several areas of the state that has bordered on anarchy.

He pledged that if elected governor he would adopt a policy of strict enforcement of the law in all areas of the state.

To this end he would establish a state department of investigation patterned after the FBI to help fight crime in Illinois. He would also enlarge the state police force, which he said is one of the smaller in the nation, so it would not be necessary to repeatedly call out the National Guard.

Ogilvie made his remarks at a luncheon where he was introduced by Albert H. Krusemark, precinct committeeman for Frankfort 1.

Graduation Exercises, Diplomas, "Out" For Parochial Graders

No formal graduation exercises will mark the close of eight successful years of study for pupils of St. Mary, and St. Jude grade schools.

As a matter of fact there will be no formal eighth grade graduation exercises in any of the schools of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Joliet, which embraces seven counties.

It is the thinking of diocesan educators that completion of grade school studies is no longer the end of formal schooling, as was once the case.

In fact it is compulsory for a child to attend school now thru his 16th birthday and should that fall in the course of a school year he must finish it out. And being 16 doesn't automatically put an end to his formal education, it was pointed out. He still has to get an O.K. for a work permit.

So the diocesan educators reason that inasmuch as there is little difference between advancing, say from the 7th to the 8th grade, as there is from the 8th to the 9th, there is no reason for formal ceremonies and diplomas. Many systems use the terms, 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th grades instead of freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors, leaving such appellations for the college level.

Last year the parochial school graduates received diplomas following a mass on the Sunday following the end of the school year. This year there will not be any diplomas; there will not be any certificates. A pupil's report card, backed by the school records, will be his passport into high school.

"The eighth grade is no longer the end of a school year," an educator pointed out. "It is more like a midpoint -- with four years of high school and four years of college yet to come."

Now that junior colleges are springing up practically everywhere it is expected that a majority of high school graduates will have two years of more advanced learning and those sufficiently interested in getting a degree will continue with their schooling, it was pointed out. Thus, in time, some believe, formal graduation ceremonies will be dropped by high schools.

However, the seventh grade class will be host to the eighth grade class at a farewell dinner at the school, next week.

The 41 pupils completing eight years of study at St. Mary in Mokena are:

Also Michael Kitter, Kathleen Knippel, Suzanne Kopp,

Thomas Langs, James Leonard, Thomas Loftus, Susan Malloy, Roberta Marshall, Stephen Martin, Phillip McAndrew, Thomas Melcher, Patrick Nelson, Kathleen Ortegal and Florence Osborne.

Also Thomas Paben, Russell Raiser, William Roach, Theresa Rogal, Mary Schubert, Deborah Schuch, Eileen Shanahan, Patricia Stead, Theresa Stokes, Gary Sondergaard, Janet Surma, James Vilutis and Anna Marie White.

There are 38 graduating at St. Jude:

Sludge-Dumping Plan Rouses Land Owners

Alarmed at what they believe to be a course of action that will blight the area, landowners in South Cook and sections of Will County are girding for a fight with the Chicago Sanitary District.

The Sanitary District is planning to use the area as a dumping ground for its sludge. Adjacent and nearby property owners -- also others who are not so near but fear depreciation of their real estate values -- are planning a legal battle to halt the project.

They have enlisted the support of village boards who have adopted or will adopt resolutions condemning the Sanitary District's program.

The Frankfort Village Board at its meeting last week indicated that at its next session, June 3, it will adopt a resolution condemning the plans of the Sanitary District to dump its sludge in an area extending from 183d St. on the north to U.S. 30 on the south and from Harlem Av. on the west to Ridgeland Av. on the east.

Attorney Albert H. Krusemark, of Frankfort, is one of the landowners committee that has been circulating petitions opposing the sludge dumping. Other members of the committee are George Sedaroak, Norman Hoger, Arthur Twietmurer, John Hotchkins and Emma Hoger.

It is pointed out by the committee that the high density of the soil -- a hardpan clay not far below the surface -- will prevent absorption of the watery mess that would be piped to the area from the Sanitary District's big treatment plants at Stickney and Calumet.

"District officials tell us they have to get rid of this sludge," Krusemark said, "and they figure piping it out here is the easiest way out. They say they intend to build some ponds or lakes into which some of the sludge will be pumped. They also tell us that these sludge-filled lakes will be clean, and wonderful recreation sites. Frankly, we do not believe it."

"Then some of the sludge will be mixed with water and lie on the surface," Krusemark went on. "And there is no doubt about it there will be unpleasant odors. How are we going to combat this smell? We have asked this question and others but we don't get any answers. Maybe they don't have any."

Tinley Park, Country Club Hills, Matteson, Lincoln

Estates, residents of Prestwick, are all deeply concerned with this problem, Krusemark said.

He added that it was not only a problem for those who reside in the area but landowners and developers fear that this sludge dumping will halt building programs and there is also a concern as to whether this seepage that would ensue will pollute the wells in the area or the water sources from which future wells may draw their supply of water.

There are approximately 2,200 acres intended for this program, it was said, and the Sanitary District plans to start it this summer, using a hundred-acre plot as a test site.

The Agriculture College of the University of Illinois is said to be conducting tests on its experimental farm at Elwood, in Jackson Township, to determine what effect this sludge-dumping program will have on production from land so treated.

N.L. Flower Show Open To Amateur Gardeners

The annual flower show of the New Lenox Garden Club is to be held June 11 and 12 in the Exhibition Hall at Francis 4-H Field. It is open to any amateur gardener.

"Knee Deep in June" is the theme of this year's exhibit. There are to be seven sections in the show, with numerous classes in each.

In the Horticulture Section, which will include the showing of various roses and a wide variety of other flowers, shrubs, cacti, fruits, berries and vegetables, there are 32 classes, with Class 22 set up for entries of any plants not mentioned.

Section B, Artistic Design, there are classes for those who have never exhibited in a flower show before, those who have never won a blue ribbon in artistic design, and of course, the niches for the still life exhibits. There are three classes for the niches, with four entries in each - June Brings to Mind, All Aboard and Gone Fishing. Plant materials and other objects may be used in these still life classes but the theme is interpreted more by the objects than the choice and dominance of plant material, it was explained.

Some of the class titles in the rest of the section exploit the general theme of "Knee Deep in June". . . January in June. . . Gyrations of June. . . Jade in June. . . June is Busting Out All over. . . Sweet Summer Breeze. . . June Japanesque and Nature's Echos.

Section C is devoted to table setting with three classes. Top of the Morning, Pop (a Father's Day breakfast); June Jitters (a bridal luncheon service), and Happiness Is (an after prom buffet). There will be four entries in each class.

Section D is for the juniors with horticulture and artistic arrangement classes. Section E is for conservation projects: Section F, is educational with an African Violet display and Section G will include plant, fruit and flower exhibits.

In addition to the ribbons, blue for first, red for second, yellow for third and white for honorable mention are four awards.

The Award of Merit, an orange ribbon, is for the horticulture exhibit judged best in that division but it must have a grade of 95 or over.

The Tri-Color Award, blue, red and yellow ribbon, is offered to the blue ribbon winner selected from a designated group of classes in the schedule. To be eligible for the Tri Color the exhibit must consist of all fresh cut plant material. Decorative wood is dried plant material and is out.

The Award of Distinction, a brown ribbon, may be given to a blue ribbon winner from a designated group of classes of all dried or treated or preserved material.

The Creativity Award, a purple ribbon, is offered to a blue ribbon winner from a designated group of classes. The material shall be the designer's choice but some fresh cut plant material must be included.

PTO Donates $1,000 To N. Lenox Schools

The Parent Teacher Organization of New Lenox Grade School Dist. 122, has had a busy year, as attested by the annual report of its president, Mrs. Kenneth Schofield.

In addition to its help with various school projects and activities, members of the PTO raised approximately $1,000 which has been turned over to the schools for a variety of improvements.

PTO activities have covered a wide range, the report relates. The organizations provided Christmas trees for each of the seven schools' bought flowers for the graduating class; serving at the last teachers' meeting in May and the first one in September, as well as serving a dinner to 225 Lincoln-Way area teachers in March.

Seven PTO members attended the sesquicentennial ceremonies at Joliet. The PTO also sponsored a Cub Scout pack, a Boy Scout troop, and three Girl Scout troops and sent two Boy Scouts to the annual district meeting at Lockport. The PTO also assisted the Scouts with a bicycle safety program.

The group also worked with the New Lenox Lions to provide vision and hearing testing for 20 pre-schoolers, under the direction of the Will County Health Department last August. Last Christmas the PTO took part in collecting groceries for the Christmas baskets for the needy.

The Safety Committee made traffic counts at Cherry Hill and Schmuhl schools to investigate the possibility of providing crossing lights. Appropriations have been made to show nine safety films to the pupils in the coming year. Half of the salary paid the Cherry Hill crossing guard was paid by the PTO.

The Hospitality Committee supervised Room Mother activities, including three parties for kindergarten pupils thru fifth grade; weighing and measuring all children twice and helping with vision and hearing tests. They also assisted with kindergarten registration and conferences in the fall and the round-up in the spring. Coffee and dessert were provided after each meeting and members of the band, chorus and physical education department were served refreshments. Seventh and eighth grade Room Mothers took part in fund raising luncheons to provide the graduating class with a trip and banquet. Six movies were shown during the year.

Interesting programs were presented at each meeting, including some student activity.

The Membership Committee was commended for its diligence in promoting attendance.

The PTO gave a check for $755 for Supt. Arnold Tyler for various school projects: $50 went to Reiter School for outdoor playground or science equipment; $50 went to Haven for indoor play equipment; $50 was tabbed for future use at Oakview School for health room equipment; $50 to the EMH department at Oakview; $80 to buy tetherballs for Oakview, Cherry Hill, Schmuhl and Haines schools; $20 for a gift for Michael Kruck, principal at Oakview who at his request is being assigned to teaching; $25 each to Thomas Goodwin, Mrs. Helen Bell, Mrs. Doris Adams and Mrs. Jolyn Taylor for use in the arts department.

Also $100 was given to Schmuhl School for furnishings; $100 to Cherry Hill School and approximately $150 to Haines School, for landscaping. The remainder of the $1,000 fund goes to the physical education department for equipment.

All these contributions were made possible thru the work of the budget and finance committee under the direction of Mrs. Thomas Portey and the other members who raised funds thru various projects and programs.

Mrs. Schofield concluded her report with an expression of gratitude to the parents and the people of the community for their support and cooperation.

Oxo Herd In New Registry

Oxo Hereford Farms Hereford breeder just west of Mokena, has enrolled his herd of cattle in the Total Performance Records Service of the American Hereford Association. The announcement was made by Association officials in Kansas City.

In expanding its service to Hereford breeders and to accumulate information for future research value in breed improvement, the American Hereford Association inaugurated a system of recording performance. The new Registry, which will be combined with the Association's present activity in evaluating the performance of herd sires gained thru the Association's Register of Merit system, and its present pedigree registry, will round out the Association's "TPR" (Total Performance Records), a means of helping breeders gain more information and make it a matter of record in all phases of performance - total performance - of their cattle.

The traits measured and recorded in addition to showing performance of offspring are: Fertility (calf crop percentage); mothering ability; conformation as it contributes to structural soundness and carcass desirability; rate and efficiency of growth and gain when applied to available feed; carcass quality including proportion of preferred cuts, and longevity of production.

The method by which breed improvement will continue remains that of good sound judgment in selection. Good records - complete and impartial - are helpful tools in identifying genetically superior cattle within a herd that has outstanding production ability. Factual information combined with sound judgment in its application will provide a basis for future breed improvement.

It's not unusual for a tree or a shrub to be showy or gaudy for a short season and then fade into a uniform green. At springtime, many woody plants take on a highly festive mood. Crabs, hawthornes, magnolia and shadblow become loaded with bloom. Later, in the fall, another part of the landscape takes prominence with gaudy colored leaves. The burning bush, barberry, and fruited cotoneasters compete with the maples in an exhilarating cool weather display.

Many landscape materials start or end their growing season with colorful foliage, but the purple leaf plum maintains its beautiful garnet red foliage color from spring to fall.

Starting in late April or early May small pink flowers are produced on the bare branches. Then as the flowers fall, the colorful purple foliage starts to appear. Most significant is that this purple color remains all season long. Many other plants produce bronzy red to purplish foliage in the spring which later turns to a uniform green.

It's difficult to know how to label this plant. Is it a tree or a shrub? When young plants are trained to a single or a few stems, it is obviously a small tree. However, if the base sprouts are not pruned out, the plant assumes the character of a bush. Either way, as a bush or tree, the purple leaf plum has many places in the small city landscape. Areas too small for a gigantic shade tree can use one of these trees to provide quick shade and colorful accent. This ability to accent also gives a good reason to plant this tree in the visual line with the front door. Its accenting qualities will lead the eye to the door and serve as a living invitation to enter.

It can also be used in its smaller sizes as a part of the foundation planting. A few clips with the pruning shears will keep the plant down to size and also induce many colorful new shoots.

Judging from its history, this colorful tree must have had a colorful past. It was introduced to France from Persia in 1890. We have no explanation why, but Pissard, head gardener to the Sha of Persia, was responsible for releasing this horticultural gem from the obscurity of a Persian harem garden.

NI-Gas To Take Bids On Bonds

Northern Illinois Gas Company has announced that it has filed a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission covering its proposed $25 million first mortgage bond issue.

According to William J. Crowley, NI-Gas executive vice-president — finance, the bids are scheduled to be opened on June 11, given necessary regulatory clearances and satisfactory market conditions.

The financing will be used for the company's 1968 utility construction program, estimated at $45 million. The balance of the construction funds will be provided from internal sources.

Crowley said the $45 million construction budget reflects a step-up in forecasts of new household formations in NI-Gas' service territory, additional development of natural gas underground storage fields, and construction of more mains from these fields to the company's markets.

Direct observation and psychological tests given in a study of home accidents by a large insurance company reveal that some women are more accident-prone than others. The accident-prone woman is generally shorter than average, and quite feminine in appearance. She is slightly hypochondriac, is quite emotional in her approach to problems, and is not well organized. Sloppy workers are also accident prone. The accident-free woman, on the other hand, is taller, calmer, faster at her work, well-organized, uses the correct tools, and follows directions. So it was said.

The American Medical Association tells us to avoid the use of hot water in bathing; warm water is less drying to the skin. We should also, they say, avoid scrubbing or rubbing, as that does away with the layer of skin that keeps the moisture where it belongs.

If you're on a beach picnic with the family and junior cuts his foot on a jagged piece of glass, do you know how to treat the cut? Or a broken leg? Or a sprained ankle? If not, a call to your local Red Cross will tell you when the first aid class starts. Such knowledge can insure the whole family against needless complications.

WORTH TALKING ABOUT

"A college course that taught nothing but simply asked, 'What have you learned this week?' and 'What could you do with it?' could well be far more productive than the hour lost to stuffing in a few more undigested facts."

"It's said we're approaching a moneyless society. Some of us are already there."

Forget not all his benefits.
—(Psalms 103:2).
Let's start the day with the three words, "We are thankful." Then we will soon feel the powerful effect of praise. In expressing our thanks to God, we stir up a greater appreciation for life in us so that we continually find new cause for rejoicing.

O'Connor-Mulvaney Wedding Read May 11

Quigley Seminary Chapel in Chicago was the scene of the marriage of Anne O'Connor to James N. Mulvaney on May 11. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Daniel P. Coughlin.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James P. O'Connor of Blue Island and the groom is the son of Mrs. Louise Mulvaney of Chicago's north side.

The bride wore a short-length white gown with a circle of veiling and was attended by her sister-in-law, Frances O'Connor, who served as maid of honor. The groom was attended by his brother, Joseph, who served as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served to the bridal party and close relatives at the Drake Hotel.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of DePaul University. The bride teaches history and government at Carl Sandburg High School. The groom is an attorney with offices at 111 West Washington Street, Chicago.

The couple will reside at 260 East Chestnut Street, Chicago.

Manufacturers Back Kankakee Basin Plan

The Greater Will County Manufacturers' Association has placed its stamp of approval on the program of the Joliet Regional Port Authority as to the development of the Kankakee River Basin project to serve as a source of water and to promote pollution control.

The announcement came through the Association's Executive Director, John Minzing. The proposal calls for a series of pools and dams long the Kankakee River in conjunction with the Kankakee State Park. The recommendations were made by the State of Illinois.

The Association, in its study of the program, took into consideration the probability that the City of Joliet will eventually utilize the Kankakee River for its water supply. Joliet now obtains water from deep sandstone and drift sources. Heavy pumping from the sandstones has resulted in severe declines in water levels and excessive pumping costs. The report shows that pumping and treatment costs will eventually become prohibitive and the city will then have to find another source for its supply. A pipeline to the Kankakee River appears to be the most economical alternative and probably will have to be completed by approximately 1986, the study shows. Area communities could also be served, it was pointed out.

The Association agrees, said Minzing, that the project benefits would include drainage and flood control, land value enhancement, water quality control and general recreation.

The Association said it would support the Port Authority in seeking immediate state funds for the purchase of the necessary lands for the program.
